

Design

Whether your company is ready for a website re-design or is in the first stages of initial web development, That Web Place can help you design and launch an effective, efficient and easy-to-use web site that will produce results.

Creating and maintaining an effective on-line presence requires careful planning, structured implementation, and a variety of skills that may be new or unfamiliar to you. That Web Place will not create a site without a complete consultation with you. Nor will we leave your company stranded to muddle its way through the unfamiliar territory of maintenance and marketing decisions after we launch your site. We are committed to providing our customers with timely, reliable, quality service and continued support after the initial design process.

Simply speaking, our success relies on your success and that is not something that you will have to teach us. Right from the start of your project and then continuing on through the growth of your business, we will be there to take care of your needs.

Before jumping into a site development contract, we will help you assess your objectives. We will take the time to understand your business and we will share with you the knowledge that has helped others achieve results. Only then, will we both have the information we need to move forward together toward your success.
